Message from the Head teacher:

I trust that you are all keeping safe and well.

With the new term well under way, we have seen some great work from our students as they continue to work hard in their lessons. It is wonderful to see the display boards being filled up with new topic work, showcasing what they have been learning over the past few weeks and their understanding of these lessons.

The new communication system with the teachers via Evidence for Learning seems to be working well and it is lovely to see everyone using this.

Have a wonderful weekend.

Hands, Face, Space

Thank you for your support in helping us to prevent the spread of the Coronavirus.

ADHD Awareness

Message from the Deputy Head:

We've had another fantastic week here at Forest Approach.

The weather is becoming more Autumnal and I have seen a few pupils wearing coats inside this week, as they had only had a shirt/blouse on and felt chilly. Please can I ask that your child comes to school wearing a cardigan or jumper for warmth going forward.

Have a fabulous weekend

Pine Class

This week in Pine Class we have been exploring sugar content in our foods. We have researched our favourite foods and their sugar content. We have also thought about the impact of sugary and acidic foods on our bodies. We have experimented with eggshells and a range of different liquids. Pine Class can't wait to see the results next week.

Evidence for Learning

From Tuesday 29th September the communication books were replaced by Evidence for Learning.

If you have problems logging in or have forgotten your password, please let the class teacher know, so that they can arrange to support you.

Many thanks.

Happy we could be a part of this lovely idea!
